

Throughout the book, the illustrations include images of significant Black individuals. We listed a few more for this matching activity. To learn more about these amazing people, use a kid-friendly search engine like www.kiddle.co!

Match the names with the descriptions.

Malcolm X

Mae Jemison

Louis Armstrong

Beyonce

Martin Luther King Jr.

Jackie Robinson

This person was the first Black person to run for president in 1972.

This person is a mother of three, singer, songwriter, record producer, dancer, and actress.

This civil rights activist, journalist, actor, writer, director, and recited a poem at President Bill Clinton's inauguration.

This singing group was as popular as the Beatles and sang together for 18 years.

This person was a civil rights leader whose last name was Little.

This person helped bring 70 enslaved people to freedom through the Underground Railroad and was a spy in the American Civil War.

This person was a civil rights leader who was inspired by Mahatma Gandhi's nonviolent resistance against the British Empire in India.

This person was an entrepreneur, philanthropist, and the first self-made female millionaire.

This person is an engineer, physician, and NASA astronaut.

This person is a famous writer and poet, known for their work during the Harlem Renaissance.

This person was a jazz trumpeter and is known for their singing voice.

This person worked in the army, played in six World Series baseball games, and helped start the Freedom National Bank.

The Supremes

Maya Angelou

Harriet Tubman

Shirley Chisholm

Madame C. J. Walker

Langston Hughes